In designs for outdoor living, a variety of fire features, including fireplaces, fire walls, fire pots, or fire lounges are guaranteed to provide warm and welcoming focal points. Innovation is central to the creation of custom outdoor fire elements via shapes, materials, and placement in relation to other exterior design elements. “Sunken fire features are trending now especially as they are incorporated into outdoor pools,” said Ryan Hughes, creative director and founder of award-winning Ryan Hughes Design. “A fire lounge appearing to be floating within a pool can feature innovative access to customized performance fabric cushions and pillows. Every aspect of outdoor fireplaces can make it a conversation-generating focal point from textures to tile, colors to custom lighting.”
